

Ingenious Champion Profile

David Pascarella—Solutions and Enterprise Architect, FishNet Security, Inc.

Juniper Champion

Chad Jones, consulting engineer at Juniper Networks, Inc., says "Dave is a great asset to our team as an Ingenious Champion and participant in the PTAB. He holds a JNCI, making his skill set rather unique in adding value to any deal. The relationships he has with customers and colleagues are a true testament to the value and trust placed in him. His personable demeanor makes him a great team member, customer advisor, and consultant."

Introducing David Pascarella

David has six years with FishNet Security as a lead engineer, pioneering the advent of the company's infrastructure national practice and currently a senior enterprise architect. He has over 17 years of experience in data communications networking, specializing in Juniper Networks' advanced IP routing, switching, and transport technologies.

Career Path

David started his technical career at Solunet, Inc. in 1999. Within three years, he was a senior engineer holding professional-level certifications with many manufacturers. While working with customers, he learned he enjoyed teaching. He went on to create and instruct customized training courses for products and technologies within his expertise.

Engaging with Juniper

David became an expert level in IP core technologies with Juniper. He also achieved his Juniper Networks Certified Instructor (JNCI) credentials and taught courses for large, named accounts and Tier 1 providers. For three years, he worked very closely with Juniper's Education Services and sales teams.

Proud to be an Ingenious Champion

With David achieving Juniper credentials for many years, including JNCI and Juniper Networks Certified Internet Professional (JNCIP) credentials, he was invited into the Champion Program from its inception. He became a member of the Partner Technology Advisory Board (PTAB) in 2013, where he enjoys sharing his ideas with his peers.

On a Personal Note

David enjoys spending free time with his family. He enjoys living in Florida and takes advantage of all opportunities to enjoy watersports, his favorite being scuba diving. David also enjoys shooting sports and participates in weekend matches and competitions in all rifle, pistol, and shotgun disciplines.
